

ARE YOU PART OF A COP FAMILY?

Tony DiSanto and Liz Gateley, the executives responsible for the development and creation of many of MTV's biggest hits, have joined forces to create DiGa, an independent production company that will create, develop and produce programming across all platforms.

Their most recent venture asks to hear from the boys in blue.

Are you a member of a multi-generational law enforcement family? Did you follow in the footsteps of a parent and/or sibling? Is your family well known in your neighborhood as a cop family? If this sounds like you (or someone you know) we'd like to hear from you!

If you appear between the ages of 23-35 please send a detailed description of your family to Melissa.Rothschild@digallc.com. Please also include your contact information (full name and phone number), your location and any photos/video that you may have that best represents your family.

We look forward to hearing your story!